Bio English (short) – Sarah Spiekermann

Since 2009 Sarah Spiekermann is chairing the Institute for Information Systems & Society at Vienna University of Economics and Business (WU Vienna). She is a well-regarded scientist, author, speaker and advisor on digital ethics. She published several books, including "Digital Ethics – A Value System for the 21st Century" (Droemer, 2019), "Ethical IT Innovation: A Value-based System Design Approach" (Taylor & Francis, 2015), as well as "Networks of Control" (Facultas, 20116). In 2016 Sarah founded the Privacy & Sustainable Computing Lab at WU Vienna. To date she has published over 100 scientific articles on the social and ethical implications of computer systems and given more than 200 talks about her work. She has co-authored US/EU privacy regulation and worked as an expert and advisor to companies and governmental institutions, including the EU Commission and the OECD. Sarah also maintains a blog on "The Ethical Machine" at Austria's leading daily newspaper Standard.at and is on the advisory board of the Austrian Digitalization Agency.

161 Wörter - 1054 Zeichen

Bio English (long) – Sarah Spiekermann

Since 2009 Sarah Spiekermann is chairing the Institute for Information Systems & Society at Vienna University of Economics and Business (WU Vienna). She is a well-regarded scientist, author, speaker and advisor on digital ethics. She published several books in the domain, including "Digital Ethics – A Value System for the 21st Century" (Droemer, 2019), "Ethical IT Innovation: A Value-based System Design Approach" (Taylor & Francis, 2015), as well as "Networks of Control" (Facultas, 20116). In 2016 Sarah has founded the Privacy & Sustainable Computing Lab at WU Vienna. To date Sarah has published over 100 scientific articles on the social and ethical implications of computer systems and given more than 200 presentations and talks about her work around the world. She has co-authored US/EU privacy regulation and supported works as an expert and advisor to companies and governmental institutions, including the EU Commission and the OECD. Sarah also maintains a blog on "The Ethical Machine" at Austria's leading daily newspaper Standard.at and is on the advisory board of the Austrian Digitalization Agency. Before being tenured in Vienna in 2009, Sarah was Assistant Professor at the Institute of Information Systems at Humboldt University Berlin (Germany), where she headed the Berlin Research Centre on Internet Economics (2003-2009), was Adjunct Visiting Research Professor with the Heinz College of Public Policy and Management at Carnegie Mellon University (Pittsburgh, USA) (2006-2009), founded and shut down the company Skillmap (visualizing social networks) (2008-2011) and worked as a management consultant and marketing manager with A. T. Kearney and Openwave Systems. Sarah was born in 1973 and grew up near Duesseldorf in Germany. She is an honorary citizen of Austria.

(271 Wörter - 1792 Zeichen)